

CHHD

Center for the Study of Culture, Health and Human Development

- February 15 Rafael Perez-Escamilla, Ph.D.
Professor of Nutritional Sciences, University of Connecticut, and Director,
Center for Eliminating Health Disparities among Latinos (CEHDL)
“Planting seeds, building capacity: The Brazilian Household Food Insecurity Measurement Project”
- March 15 Chessa Lutter, Ph.D.
Regional Advisor, Pan American Health Organization
*“The role of fortified foods in children’s health and development:
Research and public policy in Latin America”*
- April 12 Harriet Kuhnlein, Ph.D.
Director, Centre for Indigenous Peoples’ Nutrition and Health, McGill University
“Culture and Nature: Indigenous Peoples’ Food Systems and Health”
- May 2 Frank Furstenberg
Zellerbach Family Professor of Sociology, University of Pennsylvania
“Transitions to adulthood: New initiatives for public policy”

All colloquia will be held on

Thursdays, from 4:00-5:30 PM

(with exception to the colloquium held Wednesday, May 2)

in the Family Studies Building, Room 18.

Reception will follow.

For more information, please contact Colleen Vesely at (860) 486-1116 or Colleen.Vesely@uconn.edu.

To learn more about the Center for the Study of Culture, Health and Human Development and its Graduate Certificate Program, please visit our website www.chhd.uconn.edu.

Sponsored by the University of Connecticut
Department of Human Development &
Family Studies